CITY IN DESTRUCTION

Every Report from Galveston Reveals Conditions Worse and Worse.
Dead Being Thrown in the Gulf Instead Burying.

Houston, Sept. 11.—The half has not been told of the devastation and death caused by the storm at Galveston. From one end of the island to the other great heaps of wreckage exists, under the debris are dead bodies of men, women and children. It will take a week to tabulate the dead and the missing and to get anything near an approximate idea of the monetary loss. It is safe to assume that one-half of the property of the city wiped out and that one-half of the residents have to face absolute poverty. The estimated dead are placed all the way from 2000 to 3000.

This city and her people are devoting themselves assiduously to relieving the unfortunates. Her business men are losing not a moment. They thoroughly realize that seconds are valuable. Monday night large wagons jostled along the streets with boxes of prepared food to load them on the boats and cars. The mayor has sent out calls to the large cities of this and other states for immediate help, and everybody here feels that the response will be generous and speedy. These people know the justness of the demand, and hence their confidence in getting an answer.

Arrangements have been made by which communication with Galveston today. This will be done by way of Texas City over the Galveston Houston and Henderson railway and thence across the bay by the steam tug Eugene.

The railroad company sent out a large force of hands yesterday to repair the track from Texas City Junction into Texas City. This necessitated the building of about a mile of track.

The first train will leave at 9 o'clock this morning from the International and Great Northern depot, reaching Texas City by 11 a. m., where connection will be made with the Eugene and the trip across to Galveston will be made in about 45 minutes, the distance being only six miles.

This service is arranged chiefly for the accommodation of those having relatives in Galveston, and is not intended for those drawn by curiosity. They will be provided for later on.

G. L. Ross, a passenger conductor on the International and Great Northern, was among the party of refugees who reached this city at 11 o'clock last night. Mr. Ross said to a reporter:

"I will not attempt to describe the horror of it all, that is impossible. When I left Galveston men armed with winchests were standing over burying squads and at the rifle compelling them to load the corpses on drays to be hauled to barges on which they are towed into the gulf by tugs and dumped into sea."

"As I left I saw a barge freighted with dead on its journey to the gulf. This manner of burial is imperative: the living must be protected now."

Adjutant General Scurry states it as his opinion that the state militia will be called out and sent to Galveston to prevent looting, vandalism and other lawless acts.

The following is a partial list of the dead:

GHOULS AT WORK.

Dead Bodies Being Robbed of Valuables by Vandals at Galveston.

Houston, Sept. 11.—Ghouls have begun their work at Galveston and bodies are being stripped of valuables.

Details from the storm swept district of Texas hourly disclose more heartrending features and confirm earlier rumors of one of the greatest catastrophes of late years.

No wire communication is yet possible with the city of Galveston, and the only definite news obtainable so far has come by tugboats and refugees.

There seems to be no ground for the hope that fuller detail would show a reduction in the number of lives lost.

Property loss is even higher than at first given.

In the city of Galveston the dead are being gathered up as rapidly as possible taken to sea on barges and there consigned to their last resting places. This action is necessary to protect survivors from pestilence and because the ground is too wet to permit digging graves.

Relief trains are hurrying forward with supplies as rapidly as possible.

ATTEMPTED DESCRIPTION.

Newspaper Man Tells of the Calamity as Best He Can.

Houston, Sept. 11.—Mr. Spillane, a well known Galveston newspaper man, reached Houston yesterday morning after a terrible experience. He gave the following account of the great disaster:

"One of the most awful tragedies of modern times has visited Galveston. The city is ruins and the dead will number probably 1000. I am just from the city, having been commissioned by the mayor and citizen's committee to get in touch with the outside world and appeal for help. Houston was the nearest point at which working telegraph instrument could be found, the wires, as well as nearly all the buildings between here and the Gulf of Mexico being wrecked. When I left Galveston shortly before noon Sunday the people were organized for the prompt burial of the dead, distribution of food and all necessary work of such a period of disaster.

"The wreck of Galveston was brought about by a tempest so terrible that no words can adequately describe its inten-city, and by a flood which turned the city into a raging sea. The weather bureau records show that the wind was blowing at a velocity of 84 miles an hour and then the wind measuring instrument blew away, so it is impossible to tell what was the maximum. The storm began at 2 o'clock Saturday morning. Previous to that a great storm had been raging in the gulf, and the tide was high. The wind at first came from the north and was in direct opposition to the force from the gulf. While the storm in the gulf piled the water upon the beach side of the city the north wind piled the water from the way on to the bay part of the city.

"About noon it became evident that the city was going to be visited with disaster. Hundreds of residences along the beach front were hurriedly abandoned, the families fleeing to dwellings in higher portions of the city. Every home was opened to the refugees; black or white. The wind was rising constantly and it rained in torrents. By 3 o'clock the waters of the bay and gulf met and by dark the entire city was submerged. The flooding of the electric light plant and the gas company's factory left the city in darkness. To go upon the streets, was to court death. The wind was then at cyclonic height; roofs cisterns, portions of buildings, telegraph poles and walls were falling and the noise of the winds and the crashing of buildings were terrifying in the extreme.

"Nearly all the soldiers are reported dead, they having been in temporary quarters which gave them no protection against the tempest or the flood. No report has been received from the Catholic Orphan asylum down the island. But it seems impossible that it could have withstood the hurricane.

"The bay front from end to end is in ruins. Nothing but piling and the wreckage of the great warehouses remain.

"The life saving station at Fort Point was carried away, the crew being swept across the bay 14 miles to Texas City. Captain Haines' wife and one of his crew were drowned.

"The shore at Texas City contains enough wreckage to rebuild a city. Eight persons who were swept across the bay during the storm were picked up there alive. Five corpses were also picked up. There were three deaths in Texas City. In addition to the living and dead which the storm cast up at Texas City, caskets and coffins from one of the cemeteries at Galveston are being fished out of the water there.

"The wind and waters rose steadily from dark until 1:45 Sunday morning. During all this time the 28,000 people of Galveston were like rats in traps. The highest portion of the city was four or five feet under water, while in the great majority of cases the streets were submerged to a depth of 10 feet. To leave a house was to drown. To remain was to court death in the wreckage. Such a night of agony was possibly never equalled in modern times.

"Without apparent reason the waters suddenly began to subside at 1:45 a. m. Within 20 minutes they had gone down two feet and before daylight the streets were practically freed of the flood water. In the meantime the wind had veered to the southeast.

"Very few, if any, buildings escaped injury. There is hardly a habitable dry house in the city. When the people who had escaped death went out at daylight to view the work of the tempest and the flood they saw the most horrible sights imaginable. The whole of the beach front for three blocks in from the gulf was stripped of every vestige of habitation. The dwellings, the pavilions, the great bathing establishments Olympia, and every structure having been either carried out to sea or its ruins piled in a pyramid far into the town, according to the vagaries of the tempest. The first hurried glance over the city showed that some of the largest structures, supposed to be most substantially built, suffered the greatest."

REPAIRING WIRES.

Postal and Western Union Has a Force of 400 Men at Work.

Houston, Sept. 11.—The telegraph offices here are in a plight. The wires were down in every direction Sunday morning. There was only wire out of this town Saturday night and that was in use by the Associated Press. It went out about 2:50 o'clock. Sunday morning gangs were put out by both the Postal and the Western Union, and the two companies now have a force of fully 400 men at work straightening up poles and stringing wires. Sunday night the Western Union had three wires out by way of Dallas and St. Louis, but in no other direction. Ten thousand people tried to get telegrams out to Galveston and expressed themselves in various ways when they found they could not.

Monday night conditions had improved as to wires and both companies could move business to the north and west but not east or south. A number of Galveston newspaper men came up here on a tug Monday morning and each of them had from 20 to 200 messages in his pocket from people in Galveston to those on the outside. Later a tug came up and this brought more than 2000 more messages.

It looked like half the United States was trying to send messages into Houston, and as quick as a wire was reported in shape it was "quadded" and men put to work getting messages out and receiving them. The correspondents for the outside papers were piling matter up and at midnight the Postal refused to receive any more specials. The Western Union continued to handle them subject to delay. At 4 o'clock this morning some of them were still hanging on the hook.

At both offices extra clerks have been put on until there is no room for them to work more. The messages continue to pile up and some correspondents at 6:30 o'clock this morning began filing matter to be gotten out tonight. The wires are being put into position with remarkable quickness, and it is probable that specials will be handled out tonight with greater ease.

Every person arriving from Galveston brings messages to friends and relatives of those unable to get away. A majority of these messages are glad tidings for they tell that the senders are alive, but many of them tell of death and more than one man has nearly fainted as a message has been handed him telling him of death.

The Artillery Battery Safe.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Adjutant General Cobin has received a dispatch from Captain Rafferty, commanding battery O, First artillery, stationed at Galveston, Tex., dated Sunday. It reports no loss of life in his command, but says the records of the post have been destroyed and asks for duplicate records from the war department.

A Half-Cent Coin Wanted.

There is a movement on the part of some big department stores, the Philadelphia Record says, to have the government issue a new coin of the denomination of a half cent. Signatures to a document setting forth the need of such a coin have been secured from prominent retail merchants of Philadelphia, and other cities have also become interested. The bargain seeker who delights in seeing things marked down may eventually experience the delight of paying 7 1-2 cents for an article reduced from 8 cents. The merchants claim that in these days of keen competition, when large sales and small profits are the rule, some such plan is necessary. Several individual firms in Chicago have issued their own half cent pieces, which, of course, are only redeemable in their own establishments. The government has nothing to do with this money.

OTHER TOWNS SUFFER

At and Near Velasco Twenty-Two Persons Were Killed.

ALL PLACES IN RUIN.

Nearly Every South Texas Town Struck
by the Storm, Either Has Dead or Badly Injured—Property Damage Is Great.

Houston, Sept. 11.—Among the passengers who came in from Velasco, on a special train on the Columbia Tap, was
O. O. Nation, editor of the Velasco World. He said the destruction of property will amount to about three-fourths of the buildings in that town. Most of the residences were in the woods and practically escaped destruction. The loss of life was miraculously small.

The Hotel Velasco, an immense structure, was among the first places to go down. Three guests of the hotel were the only ones who lost their lives in this building.

They were:
L. W. Perrin, a wealthy stock grower of Jack county and large investor in Velasco property.

Rev. Father Thomas Keeney of Galveston.
Samuel Bly of Clarendon, Ark., and manager of a recent establishment at Velasco.

A Mr. Parker and his granddaughter, Nellie Mills, were injured in the storm and afterwards died.

Two negro men and one child were killed in the town.

Fourteen negro convicts on the state farm, nine miles west of Velasco were killed:

At the state farm, which was only recently started, much damage was done.
The buildings were all torn down by the storm and most of the crop was damaged.

The jetty work under construction by the United States government was unharmed.

Several boats were wrecked.

On account of the destruction of the property and the inability to cook, there is considerable suffering among the people for food.

News from the coast along the gulf and interstate road between Sabine and Bolivar it is thought no one has been killed.

There are no houses left standing at Patton or Rollover.

The party has not yet reached Bolivar opposite Galveston. It is reported that the village was swept off the earth and has few inhabitants left. The railroad tracks are under water and the relief party is on foot. Thousands of head of cattle are reported drowned.

At Quintana, the port at the mouth of the Brazos river, there are not more than 12 houses left standing. No one was killed, but a number of persons were injured, some of them seriously, and everybody is in need of food, clothing and many require medical attention.
Two big tugboats were driven inland about half a mile.

At Surfside which is a summer resort opposite Quintana, there were 75 persons in the hotel. The water was all about it and danger was from the heavy logs floating from above. Only a few men were in the village, so a number of ladies went into the water to their waists and assisted in keeping the logs away from the hotel and not one was lost.

The little town of Missouri City was practically wiped out. While no one was killed outright there is large list of injured, and it is stated that some opposite this place are fatally hurt.

At Sartatia, the Ellis plantation is a ruin. The thousands of acres of cane and cotton are said to be nearly without value. The big sugar house is damaged to the amount of several thousand dollars, the tenant houses are down and the total damage outside of the crops are estimated at $80,000.

There are five houses left standing on the Gordon plantation at Harlem. The cotton fields are stripped clean.

Richmond is reported to have been very nearly wrecked. Eighteen persons are reported killed, most of them negroes, in the country immediately about the town, and for 25 miles from the town there is not a house standing on the prairie.

One man was killed on the Booth plantation and the plantation wrecked.
At El Campo every house has been damaged.

At Arcola two persons were killed and several injured seriously.

At the Howtz plantation two miles west of the railroad station at Arcola,
the damage inflicted by the elements was great. Two new residences were wrecked.

Sugar mills, cane sheds, stock sheds, convict barracks, plantation quarters
and everything else in the way of improvements on the Howze plantation were either totally destroyed or rendered utterly useless and uninhabitable.
All crops were ruined and many head of stock killed. On the plantation flying debris injured several people, some fatally. There are 60 convicts quartered on this plantation. They worked heroically for the protection of life and property. Although all could have very easily have done so had they so desired,
only six took advantage of the opportunity to escape.

Two boarding cars standing on the track at Arcola were taken by the force of the wind down the track to Sandy Point, distant about 16 miles and at the latter place collided with a number of while I remain here and answer all inquiries."

Gov. Sayers issued the following appeal:

"To the honorable county judges and mayors of the several counties and of the several cities and towns of Texas:

"In consequence of the severe storm and the loss of life and property at Galveston has been appalling. The people there are in a sad plight, great distress and relief must be immediately had. I therefore urgently request you to immediately call upon your people for contributions of money, clothing and food. Action should be prompt. All supplies of food and clothing should be shipped to the mayor of Houston, Tex., who will see that it is promptly forwarded to the proper committee for distribution. All contributions of money should be sent to me, which I will transmit as soon as received.

"JOSEPH D. SAYERS."

RED CROSS SOCIETY.

Miss Barton Sends Out an Appeal for the Storm Sufferers.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Miss Clara Barton, has issued the following appeal in behalf of Texas sufferers:

"The national Red Cross at Washington is appealed to on all sides for help, and for privilege to help in the terrible disaster which has befallen southern and central Texas. It remembers the floods of Ohio, Mississippi, Johnstown and of Port Royal, with their thousands dead and months of suffering and needed relief, and turns confidently to the people of the United States whose sympathy has never failed to help provide relief that is asked of it now. Nineteen years experience on nearly as many fields renders the Red Cross all the greater. People have long ago learned its work and it must again open its accustomed avenues for their charities. It pledges them the faithful old time Red Cross relief work among the stricken victims of these terrible fields, suffering and death.

"Contributions may be wired or sent by mail to our treasurer, William K. Flather, assistant cashier of Riggs' National bank, Washington, D. C., also to local Red Cross committees, the Red Cross Indian famine fund at 516 Fifth avenue, New York and to the Louisiana Red Cross society of New Orleans.

"President National Red Cross."

LOSS TO RAILROADS.

It Will Take Millions of Dollars to Replace Tracks and Buildings.

Houston, Sept. 11.—The railroads will suffer the loss of millions of dollars in actual damage to say nothing of the loss from stoppage of business. At Galveston, their wharves, warehouses, depots and tracks are ruined. The costly bridges which connect the island and the mainland are in ruins and must certainly be rebuilt.

The International and Great Northern and Santa Fe have considerable track washed out, while the Galveston, Houston and Northern will suffer heavily.

ASHAMED OF EVACUATION.

Boers Shell a Place After the British Take Possession.

New York, Sept. 11.—The Boers seem to have been ashamed of the hasty retreat from Lydenburg, their latest stronghold, for, according to The Mail's correspondent at Maritzburg, they returned after the town was occupied by the British and shelled the place from a neighboring height.

There is no trustworthy indication as to the whereabouts or intention of President Kruger, but at Lorenzo Marques he is said to be calling up his arms with the object of surrendering.

The Portuguese are strongly reinforcing Rosano Garcia just across the border. It is believed that a rush of Transvaal fugitives is anticipated.

Orange River colony matters are not altogether favorable, for the British have evacuated Senekal, Bethlehem, Fouriesburg and Ladybrand.

South Carolina Primaries.

Columbia, Sept. 11.—The second primary elections to settle the question between candidates, not settled in the first election on Aug. 29, being held throughout the state today. The issue is brought clearly between Governor McSweeney and Colonel James A. Hoyt for governor. In the first race McSweeney received in round numbers 38,000 votes and Hoyt 33,000, while three other candidates—Gary, Patterson, Whitman—divided 18,000 votes between them. There is hardly more interest in the gubernatorial contest than in that for lieutenant governor between Colonel John T. Sloan and Colonel James H. Timman.

Army Chaplain Tried For Murder.

Bandera, Tex., Sept. 11.—Rev. J. B. Robinson, who was chaplain of the Fourth Texas regiment during the Spanish war, is on trial here for the murder of W. E. Jones, ex-Sheriff of Gonzales county, and a prominent stockman. There were no eyewitnesses to the killing, but Robinson admitted it, and claimed self-defense. The prominence of the men makes the trial one of great interest.

Engineer Killed in a Collision.

Mount Pleasant, Tex., Sept. 11.—The north bound passenger train on the Cotton Belt road collided with a freight train between here and Corsicana. Engineer Frank Emumerson, of the freight train was killed.

Japanese Chancellor Murdered.

Pekin, Sept. 11.—The body of the chancellor of the Japanese legation, Sugiyama Kiara, murdered by Chinese, was found Aug. 25 at the gate of Pekin.

other boarding cars located there, killing two and injuring 13 of the occupants of the latter.

A dead child, the destruction of all houses except one and the destitution of some 50 families is the woeful record of the work of the hurricane at Arcadia.

At Belleville every house in the place is damaged and several of them demolished, including two churches. One girl was killed near there.

Not a house is left at Pattison in a habitable condition. One person was killed there.

On Steel's plantation near Hempstead, all convict buildings, tenement houses and shops are destroyed. Convicts were released on parole. All have returned with four exceptions. Two of these were recaptured and the others may be dead.

Stone and Buchanan plantations were swept clear of buildings, but every one escaped though there are a number of injured.

On the Anix plantation every house is gone. Three negroes were killed by falling timbers and another had his back broken.

Other plantations near Hempstead suffered nearly as much but no loss of life is reported.

At Waller the destruction is complete but no one killed.

At Prairie View the negro normal school is badly damaged, but no one was killed. There was a hundred students and nearly as many attendants in the building.

At Wharton an immense amount of damage was done to the business houses, small manufacturing plants and residences. In the country about the town crops have been laid waste. Thirteen negroes were killed on various plantations in Wharton and Matagorda counties.

Full reports have been received from Matagorda county, which is on the east. Only two houses are standing.

From 50 other towns come reports that houses have been wrecked, damaged or demolished. Most of them have injured people in them, but there are no dead reported. The same fatality regarding churches that appeared in the first day's report shows up. There are evidently few churches in the hurricane district that are in condition to be used with any safety.

DAMAGE TO CROPS.

Cotton and Rice Ruined and the Loss Placed at $2,100,000.

Houston, Sept. 11.—While the greatest damage and loss of life from the West Indian cyclone was at Galveston, there is not a town within 100 miles of the gulf, west of the Mississippi river, that has not suffered wreckage or loss of life, or both.

Crops within that scope are ruined. The cotton is totally ruined. Where prospects were for a fair yield of that staple what is left will not pay for picking. The damage to cotton will not miss $1,000,000 far.

The rice crop is in as poor condition. In the vicinity of Beaumont the yield promised greater than ever known before, and it is estimated the planters cannot gather enough for seed next year. In Louisiana the same conditions exists. Around Lake Charles the whole rice crop was blown down and covered with mud. The estimated damage in Texas to the rice crop is placed at $700,000 and in Louisiana at $400,000, making a total of $1,100,000.

Add the damage to the cotton and rice crops to the loss buildings in cities and towns outside of Galveston, which will reach near $900,000, it will make an aggregate loss of $3,000,000.

Reports from isolated towns are beginning to come in and bring more reports of deaths and wreckage. Half the smaller towns in south Texas are yet to be heard from and as wires are down it will be several days before any accurate report can be expected.

Around Alvin the truck growers are heavy losers. Orchards of pears are swept clean and all strawberry fields will have to be replanted. Not a building at that place was left intact. Some can be repaired but most are total wreck.

GOVERNOR'S APPEAL.

He Asks the People to Help the Sufferers at Galveston.

Austin, Sept. 11.—When asked Monday night for an expression as to the flood situation along the gulf coast, Gov. Sayers said:

"I think it is the most deplorable catastrophe in the history of America, and I feel that every possible aid should be lent the suffering in their hour of great need. From information received here I am led to think that hundreds of families have either lost their dear ones or been bereft of their homes, and the case is one that will certainly appeal to everyone.

"I have taken active steps to secure relief for everyone that can possibly be helped after. I have wired all the city mayors and all the county judges asking them to secure all funds and provisions possible, and their replies up to the present are very gratifying. The assistance lent us by the Federal government in the way of 50,000 rations and 1000 tents will aid no little in relieving the situation at present. The first duty of course will be to look after the living who are thirsting and in hunger, no water, palatable food to eat, but I think that within a day or so we will have the relief corps working in good order. I will give the matter my personal supervision and am confident that we will see to it that everybody is looked after. It will require considerable money, however, to do all this. I have located several assistants and the adjutant general is near the scene of action and they will personally supervise the distribution
